

Area9 - Darwin IT Company Welcomes Inpex Gas Project

Well-known Darwin IT company Area9, the market leader in cloud computing, IT solutions, services and support, welcomes the recent announcement that Inpex will go ahead with its $32 billion gas project. Simon Watt, Director Area9, said today:

“

Confirmation that Inpex has signed off on its final investment decision to commence onshore gas processing facilities represents a major milestone for the Territory. At Area9, it is business as usual. Area9 is already capable of providing world-class IT services and is ready to assist local business and industry as it prepares to support Inpex.

Area9 provides cloud services, IT products and support. A consultative approach, professional service, market knowledge and best practice to ensure that those involved in the Inpex project receive IT solutions to suit their business needs.

Cloud computing is an evolution of pay-as-u-go-IT. Area9's Cloud Computing Centre enables business and industry to deliver better business outcomes and compete more effectively in local, national and international markets. With a 24-hour service desk and round-the-clock support, Simon Watt invited all stakeholders to maximise the use of Area9's capabilities.
